IBM Security Risk Quantification Services

Empowering better business decisioning to address security risks

Security risk quantification translates cybersecurity risk into financial terms; creating a common language between security experts and Boards and C-Suite executives. Understand top risks and prioritize security risks in a contextually relevant manner.

$5.8M
Quantify potential financial loss

46%
Calculate probability of event occurring

Reduce risk and improve your security posture with IBM Security

- Program Build: We provide strategy and planning for incorporating risk quantification into holistic risk management programs.

- Threat Intelligence: We can integrate risk quantification with our extensive threat intelligence, research and other data sources.

- Risk Reduction: We can help improve overall risk posture and provide reporting of risk reduction in financial terms.

- Full Security Programs: We can recommend remediation strategies, implement security controls and build full security programs.

Key benefits

- Understand monetary impact of current security posture

- Better decision making based on financial metrics and reporting

- Focused investment strategies that result in an enhanced cybersecurity risk posture

- Overall reduction in IT risks and cybersecurity exposures

IBM   Learn more